

12th International Workshop on Positron and Positronium Chemistry

28 August - 1 September 2017, Lublin, Poland

Second Announcement

Dear Colleagues,

the preparations to the 12th International Workshop on Positron and Positronium Chemistry (PPC12) have reached its final stage. The conference will be held, as planned, during 28 August - 1 September 2017 in Lublin (Poland). The draft scientific programme with links to the abstracts is available on the website and will be updated according to the latest information. Please, verify whether description of your presentation/poster is correct and complete. More information about the social events during the conference will be available soon. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any further questions.

It is still possible to register for poster presentation or as an accompanying person until beginning of the conference on 28 August 2017.

The conference venue will be the building of Faculty of Mathematics, Physics and Computer Science, which is located in the campus of Maria Curie-Skłodowska University in Lublin. We are looking forward to see you in Lublin.
